ANOTHER CRISIS AT HAND.

The quotations yesterday of Santa-Fé wheat were $200 to $210 per ton, which at the current rate of exchange is from £11 to £12 sterling per ton, say 6 shillings a bushel. In a country where agriculture is supposed to be making great progress this is most alarming.

In the last 10 years there has been no such quotation for wheat in any part of the world, the average having been from £6 to £8 per ton. At first sight we should be inclined to think that the Republic was not able to grow enough wheat for its own requirements. This is, however, untrue, since we see that the exports in 1890 reached 320,000 tons. We exported, in fact, 1,000 tons of wheat daily, last year, and now we have to pay famine prices.

The same thing occurred in 1887, when Argentine wheat was selling in Liverpool at £6 per ton and the price in Buenos Ayres was £9. The loss to the public is considerable, so much so that since 1887 we have had at various times to import wheat from Odessa. It is all very well to talk of exports as the salvation of the country, but there can be no doubt that if we had exported less wheat the pressure on the public, especially on the working classes, in the price of bread would have been much less.

Cheap bread is the first necessity, but our present system seems calculated to make bread as dear as possible. The whole fiscal system of Argentina is completely out of joint. Sheep-farming is depressed, because our Congress, our journalists and our economists have become persuaded that agriculture is preferable. But, with wheat at £12 sterling per ton it seems that our agriculture is rather a curse than anything else.

The Prensa of yesterday states that the Intendente or Mayor of Buenos Ayres is already concerned at the high price of bread. It adds that the exportation of wheat continues very active. Hence it is by no means impossible that the present price of £12 per ton may be exceeded, and Buenos Ayres reduced to the condition of a state of siege as far as regards the price of bread.

IRON-MINING IN ARGENTINA.

Our correspondent "Irony" sends us the subjoined extract on this subject. He does not give the name of the paper, fortunately for its reputation, since there is much nonsense mixed with some facts. For example, the extract says that four tons of coal are required to smelt one ton of iron. We quote Sir Lowthian Bell's figures as to the quantity of coal consumed at various epochs in smelting a ton of iron—

Year	Tons of coal
1806	5 0
1840	3.5
1881	2.2

It is, therefore, sixty years since four tons of coal were used to smelt a ton of iron. The extract is as follows—

The immense quantity of matter requisite for producing even a small weight of iron greatly astonishes anyone who has failed to note the composition of the ores and the consumption of fuel necessary for their successful reduction. Before one ton of iron in its first form of the "pig" can be brought into the market no less than an average of fourteen tons of solid materials must be used up in the process of its manufacture. Thus, the workman must get from the earth three tons of good ore, to smelt which he requires nearly four tons of coal, and in addition another ton for sundry operations, and one ton of limestone as a flux. From these nine tons, one ton of the crudest iron is obtained; but in order to bring this into a state fit for the market, it has to undergo additional processes of rough refining, in each of which it becomes considerably reduced and requires the further consumption of a large store of fuel, so that by the time a ton of sellable iron has been made, about fourteen tons of matter, as stated above, have been absorbed in its manufacture.

The Spanish steamer Cataluña, which has just arrived, brings dates up to Jan. 30. The following is a summary of the mails:—

The station at Calderbank, Scotland, has been burned. The discovery of a barrel of petroleum in the vicinity leads to the supposition that this work was done by the strikers.

The Times states that the German Cedula-holders have combined to resist the pretensions of the Argentine Government.

Telegrams from New York state that the democratic press are thundering against the Mackinley Bill, which they say, will involve enormous losses in business. As a matter of fact, business is at a stand-still. The telegraph-wires are all out of order, owing to the violence of the recent storms. A train conveying a regiment of cavalry and some artillerymen returning from the Indian campaign, collided with another train near a station in Kansas. Several waggons were destroyed. Two soldiers were killed outright and 13 were injured.

The Daily Chronicle publishes a telegram stating that the rebels were marching on Souakim, capturing numerous herds of cattle on their way, when the Governor of the town ordered the troops out, attacked the rebels and drove them back, taking Handub prisoner.

An explosion of firedamp in Brick and Cokes coal-mines at Mount Pleasant, Pennsylvania, caused the death of hundreds of miners; 159 bodies have already been extracted.

The dissolution of the Austrian Chambers has taken Europe by surprise.

Owing to the recent storms, the rivers in Germany are very swollen and inundations are imminent.

Disturbances are reported from Bordeaux where several Frenchmen and Germans employed on the docks grew angry over some question of international jealousy and fought with knives and stones. Two Germans were seriously wounded. One Frenchman was arrested; the others fled.

Seven persons perished and eleven houses were destroyed in the recent snowstorms in Messina.

Telegrams from Mexico report great agitation on the Guatemala and Salvador frontiers, where outrages are being daily committed. Mexico has decided to maintain strict neutrality.

The rumours of a proposed general disarmament in Europe are without foundation. Germany is even increasing her army with 4 battalions of infantry, 70 field batteries, one battalion of engineers and three other battalions.

Minister of Finance Guinaldi has made some important declarations in the Italian Chambers. The deficit, he says, amounts to 53 millions. The Minister proposes a fixed limit to extraordinary expenditure, which never before exceed 185 millions: for the extraordinary expenditure of the War and Naval Departments, he has allowed 24,700,000 lires. He proposes alterations in the Lottery, Tobacco, Monopoly and other branches of legislation. He was much applauded.

The idea of organizing an international exhibition in Berlin for 1896 is gaining ground.

As was anticipated, disturbances occurred in the Theatre San Martin on the occasion of the performance of Sardon's play Thermidor, which is levelled at the Revolution. The police had to interfere and disperse the audience. The affair caused considerable sensation in Paris.

THE URUGUAYAN MESSAGE.

We take from the columns of our colleague, the Montevideo Times, the following summary of President Herrera y Obes's Message to the Chambers. The contents are interesting and remind one of the literature in vogue in the latter days of ex-President Juarez's government, when all the causes of crisis were ascribed to premature development and not to misgovernment. As the Message of the Uruguayan President is inordinately long, we shall publish same in two chapters, reserving for a future issue our opinion of same. The following is the document:—

Senators and Deputies.

§ 1. The Republic is at peace, to the support of its institutions, which, faithfully fulfilled, guarantee to all the inhabitants of the country the free exercise of their political and civil rights.

§ 2. The same cannot be observed in the economic order, which has been profoundly perturbed for more than a year by a commercial crisis the ruinous effects of which have been felt in all spheres of social activity, and are still felt, although in evident decrease.

§ 3. It is not at all strange that this economic crisis should have assumed greater proportions than any that has yet visited the country. The explanation is easily found in the accomplishment of natural laws and without necessity to attribute it to extraordinary causes or supposititious and false faults of the Public Powers of the last four years.

§ 4. This is the logical consequence of the progressive development of our social state, the increase of our population, and of public and private riches, of extension of our commercial relations with abroad, of the complexity, in short, of our economic and financial organism, which is the more sensitive to those social periodical diseases called crises as its lustiness and perfection are the greater.

§ 5. It may be said that these crises are infirmities of growth, the morbid product which progress leaves from time to time in its ascending evolution, and therefore the magnitude of their effects is nearly always in direct ratio to the magnitude of the development which has taken place in the public and private riches of the country affected. Poor countries, or those without commerce or credit, which live isolated within their frontiers, do not suffer from these economic disturbances, which, appearing in England, France or the United States, shake the commercial world to its base.

§ 6. Examining its causes, the present crisis neither has the intensity nor the gravity of previous crises, especially those of 1864, 1868 and 1871, for while the present is essentially monetary, the others had a deep political origin. All the same, the economic effects of the present crisis are superior to those of the others. Why? Because in spite of all, and by the virtue of the vitality of our young natural organism, the action of time alone has multiplied our economic forces, the importance of which is revealed in this increasing growth of our local crises, which already repercuss in the great commercial markets of Europe, thus proving the concatenation and solidarity of the interests which unite us.

§ 7. The present Government has no responsibility whatever in the present crisis which it found incubated on assuming power, on March 1, 1890, and the effects of which, when produced, it has endeavoured tolessen, hastening the solution by all means in its power. At the same time it is necessary to correct the error of those who, supposing that Governments can make or unmake crises by their acts, accuse the Public Powers, either of the evils of our commercial situation, or of not immediately curing them. The mistakes or faults of the Publics Powers may assist in preparing a crisis, may determine its explosion, but they cannot by themselves produce it. Economic science bears witness that in the period of prosperity the accelerated movement continues in spite of the revolutions and national wars which should have paralysed it. No scientific person has ever yet accused the Public Powers of these inevitable accidents of commercial life.

§ 8. The same may be observed of the influence of administrative and legislative acts in the solution of a crisis. A crisis has only one remedy, the liquidation, in favour of the facilities offered to personal credit, of the rotten speculations made in the epoch of prosperity. The acts of the Public Powers can neither prevent this liquidation nor avoid the ruin of those who, under the pessimist influence of the panic have to sell at a vile price that which, under the optimist influence of prosperity, they bought for much more than it was really worth.

§ 9. Our present crisis finds its source in the sudden and violent development which took place in speculation in the years 1887-9. All our economic forces, accumulated and suppressed during twelve years of commercial paralysis, entered at once into action, stimulated in their expansion by capital from abroad, and especially from the Argentine Republic, and all which produced in the market an abundance of circulating medium, which, transformed into facilities of personal credit, favoured speculation in general, determined the rise in all values, stimulated the formation of limited companies, increased consumption, produced, in short, that three years prosperity the benefits of which have been felt by all in their personal welfare, and have been applauded by all, so long as they lasted, without mental reservations.

§ 10. That prosperity, though perhaps exaggerated, was not artificial, and its duration might have been much greater, if causes foreign to our commercial speculation had not suddenly paralysed the business movement, determining the outbreak of the crisis. Amongst these the first and principal was the considerable extraction of gold coin which the country had been suffering since 1881, and which, for the years 1887-9, amounted to 8,300,000 dols. This is an enormous sum for a country whose metallic stock is only 12 to 13 million dollars, and whose circulation is nearly all in specie on account of the repulsion to paper money and the use of those instruments of credit which elsewhere take the place of money. These extractions of gold, reflected in the diminution of the metallic stock of the banks of emission, produced the first symptoms of the crisis, represented in the restriction of discounts and of personal credit, and synthethised in the paralysation of the commercial movement.

§ 11. The loss of the harvests, the backwardness of live stock, the low price of our produce, all caused by the great rains of 1889, helped to aggravate the situation.

§ 12. At the same time the capitals from Buenos Ayres, principally invested in shares and stocks, and which had helped to raise the value of landed property, were withdrawn on account of the Argentine crisis, taking away the gold and leaving us instead a proportional quantity of values of all kinds which flooded the market, producing the consequent depreciation.

§ 13. So far the crisis was momentary and was characterised by a want of circulating medium. To fill the void caused by the extraction of gold, the Executive Power, at the request of Baring Brothers, opened negotiations for the loan of two million pounds destined by law to the conversion of the Treasury bonds, and payment of the deficit owed to the National Bank, but, in reality, with the object that the Bank might mobilise this part of its working capital, bringing to the country the value in gold, with which it was presumed the effects of the crisis would have been conjured. The basis of this combination was that Baring Brothers, directly interested in supporting the National Bank of which they were large shareholders and creditors, should renew the credits and pledges ('cauciones') held in their favour for nearly 7,000,000 dollars, but they were already in difficulties, and when the moment came to realise the loan, instead of delivering its product to the National Bank, they peremptorily exacted the payment of the Bank's debt to them, and thereby absorbed nearly all the loan, which only came to the country and entered the Bank in very small part.

§ 14. The crisis then became violent and acute and was logically felt most severely in the establishment of credit which had been most liberal in its discounts which had given most expansions to its emission. This was the National Bank, which, finding its metal reserves exhausted, and unable to replace them by the means of collections which it would have been necessary to convert into executions of its debtors, had, in July last, to suspend the conversion to gold of its paper emission.

§ 15. The E. P. gave account of this to the Legislative Body, which, having to choose between decreeing the liquidation of the Bank with all its ruinous consequences, or granting legal course ('curso legal') and State guarantee to its inconvertible emission, chose the latter and sanctioned the Law of July 7, 1890.

§ 16. The crisis had arrived at its acutest period, bringing in its train two most serious dangers for the financial and economic future of the country, the establishment of forced currency and paper money, and the suspension of the service of our Public Debts, two extreme measures of disastrous consequences, but to which nearly all nations have recurred, under the implacable pressure of necessity and in situations similar to ours.

§ 17. The invariable object of the acts of the E.P., from which it has never swerved, to which it has subordinated all its acts and powers, has been to avoid those two dangers, in the firm conviction that it the country issues triumphant from this most severe trial the necessary sacrifices, however severe will be fully compensated by the benefits which should be produced in the stability and elevation of public credit, never having failed for an instant in the faithful fulfilment of the national obligations, as also by the benefits to public and private riches in the having been saved from the abyss of paper money, and the preservation of the metallic base of our monetary circulation.

§ 18. To this patriotic proposition responded all the precautions adopted in the law of inconversion and the decrees dictated by the E. P. for the valorisation of the notes of 'curso legal.' Unfortunately all the efforts of the E.P. and all the guarantees given by the law of conversion to the National Bank notes clashed with the popular prejudices and the resistance of commerce, which, opposing the propositions of the Public Powers, and not recognising their true interests, depreciated and demonetised that paper, thus throwing out of circulation in a moment of violent monetary crisis eight millions of dollars, which, if valued, would have served to facilitate transactions and make less ruinous those liquidations of businesses which are inevitable to arrive at the solution of the crisis.

19. Commerce has first suffered the consequences of its error represented by the paralyzation of all business, the diminution of consumption, the disappearance of personal and commercial credit, the depreciation of all its values, by the difficulty, if not impossibility, of collecting its accounts, which are all necessary effects of the want of circulating medium.

To be continued to morrow.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

December 27th.

Christmas has been charming; the weather was exceptionally seasonable, invigorating. Society was gay, and only dreamed of pleasure and enjoyment. No general sickness reigns, so that was an agreeable fact to rejoice over, when compared with the sepulchral pall that enveloped everything last year, caused by the Russian influenza.

France is becoming more Christmasized; soon the fete of the great English family will be undistinguishable from its observance here. One stage of the festival season, however, will remain essentially Gallic—the Eve midnight mass and the social suppers.

The city was very full, due to provincials running up to town to make purchases, and due also to the augmenting habit of the Parisians arranging for "family compacts" at the closing of the year.

The shops were never so gaily decked out not only in new but in cheap goods Tradesmen are commencing to comprehend the philosophy that it is the volume of business which nowadays must be relied upon, and that therein resides the secret of small profits and quick returns. The new system of baiting took: the public freely rises to it, and hence why shop keepers are jubilant.

The midnight Masses attracted not only the crowd of curious to hear the beautiful execution of sacred music, especially the Noels or Carols, or Anthems, but also crowds of worshippers, as evidenced by the numbers who partook of the Sacrament. There was a marked increase in the presence of men, and especially of young men. At Notre Dame the midnight Mass is rarely celebrated; it costs too much to heat and light the venerable edifice. But there are plenty of other churches to select from, and the first letter in the first line is the Church of S Roch. It has the best trained choir in the city because its members keep together, form as it were a guild, and no additions are made or vacancies filled up without the candidate being well tested. I am told too that St. Roch boasts of possessing the largest revenue from voluntary donations. It is in the centre of a rich, tranquil and commercial parish.

About two, on Christmas morning, the "reveillon," or supper, is at its height. It is not on this occasion considered "infra dig" for the most respectable ladies to sup with their male relatives in a restaurant; indeed ladies look forward to the spree with "gusto." Much erudition has been displayed and historical canons quoted as to what the bill of fare ought to be for the supper. Originally, the meat was limited to selections from the thousand and one preparations of pig. But the age of sausages and black-pudding is gone—like chivalry. The supper now is a combination of a hot dinner and a cold collation with all kinds of wine. Formerly only claret was drunk. No guest, of course, "goes home till morning." An innovation has been introduced this year, that of making a collection at the close for the poor. With the sum raised a bundle of food tickets is purchased, and the youngest lady divides them between the company, who distribute the tickets when and where they please.

Christmas Day witnessed as many persons in the streets and suburbs as if it was the leafy month of June. But the air was healthfully cold and not at all biting. Thousands went to skate and tens of thousands to witness their performance. In central spaces, in and outside the city, cressets or "braseros" were kept well filled with burning coke, and crowds congregated before them. While your face was being grilled your back was being frozen. The best warmer was a good pair of legs kept well employed. The homeless squatted round these camp fires on old mats or bits of rugs that they carried with them, as if Turks for kneeling purposes. Equally timely was the trundling along the streets of the ambulatory Gargantuan pots, kept heated by a charcoal furnace below, and emitting quite a pick-me-up odour. A bowl of this soup, with meat, vegetables and bread, costs two sous, and the tickets were accepted in payment. The poor flocked round the steaming pot, as flies in summer on an empty sugar hogshead.

Good news is to be reported respecting the Fair installed along the streets and the Boulevards. The wooden shanties, erected for the occasion of 15 days, are tenanted by humble and industrious artizan families, who sell the toys and knick-knacks they have manufactured during the long summer evenings when artificial light was not required. The hopes and the fortune of a family are staked on the output. It symbolises Cæsar and all his fortune. The speculation has been the turning point in the career of many wealthy traders to-day. It is gratifying to see the rapidity with which the toys are bought up and the stocks renewed; and it makes one glad to note how the faces of the family brighte, and eyes twinkle with gladness, as the copper and silver well up in the cash, not box but bowl.

They are the dealers of cheap toys that succeed; and they are exactly the articles children most delight to receive. Imagine a stall, hardly two feet above the footway, and so suitable to the height of babydom at large; the stall itself is four yards long and two deep; distributed over this space, in chess-board order, are piles of whistles, dolls, Noah's Ark curios, bells, pistols, watches, furniture, guns, cannon, balls, tops, pictures, etc.; each article costs but one sou: the tiny purchaser approaches, a finger in mouth, and clutching to mother's gown or father's coat. The decalogue is already violated in advance, for the child covets the whole contents of the stall. After the shyness wears off, and the example of other little sinners is comprehended, paterfamilias holds a basket-tray, and invites his olive branch to select any toy fancied. And what a razzia ensues, and what value the infant receives for its money, and what pleasure the parent experiences.

There are plenty of costly toys, all valuable; but these often frighten children, because they are afraid to play with what is not a plaything. The toy that a boy can smash, or a girl take to pieces, and find responsibility in no way involved by such wreckings, is the toy that creates happiness. But the plaything that a child is told every minute, to "take care and not break it," had better be at once relegated to the household ark of locked up, dust—collecting curios. There is more joy for a lad in repairing the battered head of his drum or mending compound fractures in his wooden horse than in all the "scientific toys" you could present him with, and binding him to a clause not to touch them. There are not many original toys in the fair; but all toys are new to new child generations. There are many varieties of old play-things, and numerous baptisms for articles of ripe years. The actuality toy is a buff colored travelling-trunk, cubing an inch. The puzzle is to open it; this effected, the opener will be rewarded by finding Gouffé, the victim of Eyraud and Gabrielle Bompard inside.

Respecting the concluded trial of these assassins. That Eyraud was to be guillotined was a foregone conclusion. But it was a surprise somewhat that the girl Bompard escaped with 20 years imprisonment. No wonder that incarnation of viciousness which no religion could reform, no counsel guide, leaped for joy. She was a "nusus naturae" of immorality. At twelve years of age, she possessed a stock of vice, equal it has been said to a brace of sinners of a score of years standing. It was over her case that the battle of hypnotism was fought between the cranks of Nancy, who believe in that ism, and the faculty of Paris, who laughed it out of court. Dr Bronardel put the case in a nut-shell. He said to the doctor who had operated on Gabrielle when she was entering on her teens, you hypnotised her; you alleged she was a favorable subject; you employed all your formulas and conditions of "suggestion;" and yet you could not suggest to her to become an honest woman. "E finita la comedia."

The trial of M. de La Bruyere, for organizing the audacious escape of Padlewski, the nihilist for shooting General Silverierstoff, the Russian ex-police minister, has condemned him to 13 months imprisonment, but he appears to have been arraigned on his private life rather than on the evasion. A veil of mystery still hangs over the whole affair, and it is not quite certain if Padelewski be in a sure place.

It is asserted that His Holiness has this Christmas presented the "Golden Rose," to Madame Carnot—that symbol of virtue and piety, and that it was Cardinal Lavigerie who negotiated the matter. On the other hand, the report is contradicted. Madame Carnot is a most excellent woman, and though with protestant blood in her veins, is a devout Catholic. The gift, say the royalists, would be committing the Pope to the Republic. The Holy Father knows as well as any other looker-on that royalty in France is as dead as a door nail, and as effete as the dodo. The Church is not the enemy of republicanism. Is it not a leading idea with Cardinal Manning, that Demos is the natural ally of the Church?

The ensuing year will see a new phase of social relations between the Vatican and France. M. Jules Ferry, as Senator, is about re-entering on the political scene, and will push France to a "grit" programme.

ROMAY IRON MINES.

Mr. Editor,

In continuation of the discussion, and in reply to the article upon this subject in your paper of Tuesday, I have only to say that were the said mines in the very centre of the black country in England where all the necessary material for reducing the ore is procurable within easy distance, it is more than doubtful if it could be worked to a profit. Hematite of workable quality should contain at least 55 to 65 per cent of metallic iron.

As regards the Limestone admitting that there is an exhaustible supply in the Republic, if it has to be conveyed a long distance by rail, it would cost far too much for freight, and the quantity necessary for smelting such a dirty mineral as the Romay ore seems to be, would be very considerable probably 9 or 10 cwts. to the ton of pig iron produced.

With reference to "Smelters" letter it is hardly worth noticing, as it displays total ignorance of the subject in question, he assumes that limestone will no doubt be found contiguous to the ore. Upon what basis does he assume this? Also the fireclay question he settles off hand by means of a small bore-hole. All the bore holes in creation will not find fireclay where it does not exist. The black loam of the country will not do for moulding pig iron.

In conclusion my object in writing at all upon this subject was merely to point out a few leading contingencies essential to the profitable and successful manufacture of iron, and that several of these elements do not exist in Catamarca, will I fear, be found out by the shareholders later on to their cost. Mining is like gambling, once begun it is hard to give up, and many large fortunes have been dissipated away experimenting upon unworkable minerals.

I have not the slightest hesitation in prophesying that it will be many years before Romay iron will compete with the home article either in price or quality.

I am, yours etc.
Irony.

COMPLAINT AGAINST AN ARGENTINE CONSUL.

Yesterday at the Southampton County Bench Señor Moreira, Argentine Consul for the South of England, was summoned for threatening a gentleman named Sharpe. In stating the facts for the prosecution, Mr. Lamport, solicitor, said that Mr. Sharpe was the father of a young lady of prepossessing appearance, and the defendant having been introduced to the parents, had chosen her to make her the object of—he would not say his affections exactly, but of his attentions. The defendant contended that, although he was a married man, yet, according to the custom of his country he could pay every attention to single ladies so long as his wife did not object. He was admitted to the house on a proper introduction to Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe, and for a time was a good deal esteemed by them; but his attentions to their daughter became so marked that, without saying one word against the object of those intentions, or against Señor Moreira, they were the subject of almost public scandal and talk. Señor Moriera held communication with the daughter from the windows of the house, and he had chosen to make her presents of considerable value. Mr. Sharpe found his daughter's reputation was imperilled, and desired defendant to discontinue his visits. The daughter, who was the only one at home, the others having been happily married, was about the age of 21, and she could therefore, according to the laws of this country, treat her parents' wishes with contempt, set their desires at naught, and make what friends she chose. The only thing that Mr Sharpe could do for his own protection was to say that if the defendant persisted, against the wishes of the parents, in pursuing his attentions, whether honourable or not—and he (Mr. Lamport) would not suggest that they were anything but honourable—all he could do was to say to the unfortunate daughter. "You must not come to my house." That was the last thing a parent would, if possible, do. Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe tried all they could to induce the gentleman to recognise the laws or prejudices of this country. Mr. Moreira, however, continued to send presents to the house, day after day. At last Mr. Sharpe said, "I'll have no more of it," refused to allow any more presents to be brought to the house, and appealed to the defendant, as a gentleman, to study the feelings of the parents. The grieved mother had been driven almost wild by the conduct of her hitherto fond daughter, but defendant said they could not prevent him following her, and he would make her his adopted child. Not only did he do that, but when a parcel sent was returned to the messenger by his client, the defendant insisted on its being taken in, and was so violent that he was requested by Mr. Sharpe to leave the premises. Defendant went into the road and used such violent language and acted in such a manner that complainant, from his previous knowledge of him, went in bodily fear, and asked for protection. The defence was that Mr. Sharpe first insulted the Consul. It was emphatically denied that there was anything improper in the relation of the defendant to the young lady, of whom he and his wife were very fond, and whom they would only too gladly adopt. The magistrates bound the defendant over in £50 and one surety of £50 to keep the peace for twelve months. —Daily News.

Railway Items.

Three months have been allowed to the Pacific Company for the erection of the Station at Bella Vista.

The plans of the Central South American Company for stations, sheds, wharves, etc., have been approved. The change in the original plans has also been approved.

Government has refused the proposal of Messrs. Penano and Agostini to lease the Tucuman-Salta-Jujuy line.

Authorisation has been given to purchase in Europe the materials for protective works on the line from Salta to Cabra Cabral in Lerma Valley.

Mr. E. de la Barra has been authorised to lay a telegraph line from this city to the Chilian frontier, via Mercedes, Villa Mercedes, (San Luis) and Mendoza.

The annual meeting of the Buenos Ayres Northern was held on January 23rd at Palmerston Buildings; Mr. C. Seale Hayne, M.P., presiding.

The Chairman stated that the credit of revenue was £14,352, and after deducting £420 available for drawings in favour of the holders of the unconverted guaranteed and deferred preference shares, there remained an available balance £13,932. Out of this there was available on the guaranteed and deferred preference shares a dividend of 7s. per share, making with the interim dividend a distribution for the year at the rate of 14s. per share; on the preference stock £4 18s. per cent., making, with the interim dividend, a distribution for the year at the rate of £9 11s. per cent; and on the ordinary stock to £3 15s. per cent., making with the interim dividend a distribution for the year of £7 5s. per cent. The account with the the Central Argentine Company for stores and other outstanding assets and liabilities taken over by them on the 1st January, 1889, had been settled at £20,851, and this amount had been paid to the Company. He could do nothing but congratulate the Shareholders upon the fact that theirs was the only Company in Buenos Ayres the shares of which had not depreciased in the market.

Mr. H. Doughty Browne seconded the adoption of the report, which was agreed to unanimously.

The Railway Bureau has advised the Government not to pay the guarantee to the North Central Railway and branches until they comply with the decree 5th November 1888, regarding deposit of guarantee. It amounts to 400,000 dollars gold.

We learn that the new route proposed by the Fives-Lille Company for the Linares and Almeria (to which the Spanish Government has granted a subvention of £1,240,000) will save 42½ miles of line. The new route (which has been accepted by the Superior Council of Bridges and Roads) will further reduce the cost of construction very considerably. The new line will place Oran (Algeria) within 48 hours of Paris.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was a general liquidation on and off 'Change; not in a commercial or monetary sense, but corporally, as the whole population seemed melting away under the abnormal temperature. Obese people, whose numbers have declined considerably since the crisis set in, were literally frying in their own fat, while leaner mortals seemed worn to a shadow. One subscriber in average condition resorted in despair to a Turkish bath as a cooler, on the "similia similibus" plan, and came out three kilos lighter than he went in. A few more of such coolers and he will be able to ride a feather weight at Hurlingham.

Crowds now flock to Palermo, the Plazas and the river-side at night for a breath of fresh air. Even when the sun goes down there seems to be as much puffing, and blowing, and sighing, and mopping of perspiring foreheads as when he is in the zenith.

Passengers who have arrived from Valparaiso in the Galicia say that the revolution has plenty of back-bone and a good chance of winning in the long run. Yesterday there was no fresh news whatever from the West Coast; and no news is generally good news.

Frank Brown has, with rare generosity, offered a benefit to the recently incorporated "Circulo de Cronistas," a mutual aid and self supporting institution founded on a sound and sensible basis. Needless to say that Frank Brown's offer has been readily accepted. The event will come off on Tuesday next the 24th inst and deserves the support of all interested in the independence of the Press of this country.

In spite of the exceptional heat a very good house assembled at the National Theatre on Tuesday to witness the performance of Carmen with Sr. Annovazzi, who had several times distinguished himself by his nonappearance just before Carnival, in the role of Jose. He now distinguished himself in another manner, and, in fact, astonished the audience by his very able interpretation of the character. We do not pretend for a moment to say that he is a Tamagno or De Retzke, but he is far superior to the ordinary run of tenorinos to whom Buenos Ayres is accustomed. He was enthusiastically received, and was recalled at the end of the third act where his acting and singing both rose to the height of the situation. Sta. de Lutoichau, who took the title role, has a fair mezzo soprano voice which she uses with good effect; her acting, however, although intelligent, hardly rose to the level required. Sras. Sosso and Balsimelli were excellent as Mercedes and Frasquita, and their scena in the third act was most artistic. Sr. Poggi, in the role of Escamillo displayed his fine voice to great advantage, but his via comica and twinkling eyes belied the character. The chorus was good and the orchestra, under Sr. Balsimelli, excellent. Carmen will be repeated this evening.

"Tony," the droll of the San Martin Theatre, takes his benefit to-night, and, as he has made himself a universal favourite during the season, will no doubt receive a bumper.

We have to thank Mr. Ely for late English papers to January 24th. Also the Red Star Agency for the same favour. The papers in question served as a refresher in the stifling heat, being full of frost, snow and blizzards. Messrs. Mackern and Shine also favoured us.

They are so nervous in La Plata about the topic of the day, revolution, that the Government is paternally spending 5,000 dollars daily in extra precautions in the way of police, powder and "pertrechos" generally. Where all this money is to come from is not so clear.

Letters from Europe say that public opinion there is unanimously against Czar Balmaceda. As usual when European wiseacres express their convictions about South American affairs, they are wrong: the fall of the would-be dictator is considered a mere question of weeks. Is it? Ask the captain of the "Imperial" whose dashing exploits in twice evading the numerous revolutionary fleet reminds the world of those of the Huascar under the immortal Prat.

The editorial duel at South Barracas on Tuesday between a French and a Spanish colleague ended at the first exchange of shots, the gallant Gaul receiving a bullet in what Major Monsoon and Mickey Free would call his "punch arm." We believe the wound is not very serious. The worst part of this business is that it has led to two more affairs of honour which "have been arranged and will shortly take place," like a fashionable marriage in Hanover Square.

The Panadero says that the Lord Mayor is doing all he can to raise the price of bread by ordering filters to be put up by all bakers who use "pozo" water. For 300 years Porteño bread has been made with well water, and our colleague very properly asks what disease germs can possibly exist in water mixed with flour baked up to 400 degrees? Better have no Lord Mayor and Corporation than such fussy and unnecessary interference with private industry.

The little Doria Theatre in Calle Rivadavia, which has been touched up inside and outside, will reopen on March 15th.

The yellow fever news from Rio is ugly. One hundred and forty five Fluminenses succumbed to it last week. The weather is so terribly hot here that a very sharp eye should be kept on all vessels arriving from Rio. By the way, the unfortunates who have got into quarantine on Flores Island declare that the food there is more utterly uneatable than ever.

A little servant girl of 14, in Dr Llanos's service at Lomas, blew her brains out on Sunday night last because she was refused leave to attend Carnival. What can be expected from children when they have such awful suicide example from their elders in all classes of life.

The following words, if spelled forward or backward, are the same:—"Name no one man."

In reference to the elevation of our pious and witty countryman Dr Magee to the Archbishopric of York, a London exchange says:—"The appointment of the Bishop of Peterborough to the vacant Archbishopric of York is somewhat of a surprise, considering that he is already close upon 70 years of age, and has been of late in enfeebled health; but the promotion of the most eloquent prelate on the Bench is generally approved. Dr. Magee, who was born in Cork and educated in Dublin, is the first Irishman who has ever been "Primate of England.""

The new cruiser 25 de Mayo will not be here next month as at first thought. The end of April or beginning of May is more likely to see her in Argentine waters.

Oh! The Lord Mayor has thought proper to return to the manager of the Ensenada Railway a note addressed to him by that popular functionary, who appears to have trod on his lordship's corns in some way, or, in other words, wounded his "dignidad de hombre" in some way,

THE DIPPING SEASON.

Under the above heading, the following appears in a recent exchange:—

"Speaking of Dips themselves, perhaps the most significant feature in their "History is the way that the Old fashioned have been superseded by the more "Modern and Scientific preparations. As Tobacco gave place to the various "Fluids" "and these again to the "Powders" so we find to-day these latter retiring before the "new Paste Dips. Of the many recent experiments we have witnessed in England and "the Colonies, the most successful were with an Arsenical Paste, manufactured by "Tomlinson and Hayward, of Lincoln, a firm that has always been noted for keeping "breast of the times."
"The advantages of the Paste over the "Powders" are many:—
"It does not make the wool dry and harsh, but leaves it soft and silky, giving a "healthy sweet smell to the sheep. Being, so to speak, already mixed, it is easier to "prepare there, being no waste nor loose "Powders," to fly about.
"As it is prepared with Carbolic it is lighter than the "Powders" and does not "so readily settle to the bottom, and for the same reason it is not injurious to the "hands. It goes in less space and is a more concentrated form than the "Powders," "thus effecting an economy in transport and labour. It costs less, and will mix with "any kind of water. In a word, it is the "Powders," cleared of their many inherent "defects, with their curative properties and good qualities preserved and increased. "Until the manufacturers make some better discovery

Wednesday, February 18th.

The market to-day was excessively dull, due in great part to the excessive heat, and it was noted that both in the hall and ring the attendance was far below the average, many brokers and merchants having no doubt elected to remain in their quintas with their Lares and Penates in preference to stewing in the Temple of Mammon on the remote chance of doing business. At one o'clock, beyond a few stray, unfailing habitues of the Bolsa lolling about on the benches, the place was empty. Business was meagre in the extreme, and gold, opening at 356, kept firm for some time, then declining to 353.50, at which it was quoted at 2 p.m. National Bank shares rose to 77, but left of at 76.50 between buyers and sellers, whilst Cedulas were weak all round, the M, N and O series dropping to 52 and P to 44.50. Constructors declined to 10.40 and Catalinas to 15.60, both closing very weak. It was reported to-day by brokers that gold on time is now dearer than for cash, which is a bad sign.

The following is a summary of operations effected this afternoon during the first ring:—

The feature of business at the second hour was a stand from under drop in gold, the price declining from 354 to 347 without a pause, closing with buyers at this rate. Nobody could find out what was up, some opining that the loan was done, whilst others attributed it to more orders for Cedulas. Nothing definite was, however, known beyond that the whole market had turned tear. Stocks, of course, rallied under the improved state of affairs, National Bank spurting up to 78, Cedulas P to 46, Catalinas to 16.40 and Constructors to 10.60. A small lot of Obligations changed hands at 1.50, which closed the business of the hour.

The following is a summary of the business effected in stocks during the second ring:—

National Bank Shares—

In exchange only a small business was done to-day, the rates being quoted unchanged at 483½, 5.09 10 francs and 4 15 marks. In paper very little was done and rates varied with the fluctuations of gold.

Wool brokers report the markets somewhat firmer to-day, and business in the South market very brisk, good combing wools changing hands at 11.50 dollars. In the Once and Central Produce markets the supply is not large.

Mr. L. de Candia took leave of his numerous friends to-day and took the steamer for Montevideo to catch the Clyde. Mr. de Candia will remain a few months in England and then return. We wish him a pleasant trip.

Montevidean advices announce the sale by Messrs. Jonte and Villanal of 10,000 arrobes of wool of different classes at reserved prices. From the Denis saladero 2000 novillo hides were sold at 60 rls., from the Loscа saladero 300 bls. tallow, and from the Mouret saladero 200 bls. cash at 124 rls. frs. the arrobe.

On the Bolsa to-day shareholders every day, refuting in the most practical manner possible the ideas and expectations of our financial Cato. How long this derision of figures and war against facts is to continue is now the question. The Minister doubtlessly believes that he is wearing out an embittered hostility, whilst the market sees that he is fighting an imaginary foe. Such connections have only one end—the prolongation and accentuation of the evil which will corrode the channels, dry up springs and render the march back all the more trying and difficult, when failure is an acknowledged fact. It is said that the import trade is paralysed, which is nothing surprising, as the retail traders cannot afford to stock themselves at the present high prices, which will compel importers to reship their goods to Europe. The Customs returns at present are mainly composed of the dues on exports. Verb. sap.

Government has authorized the Drainage Company to lay pipe water in the Basin and the deposits of Docks 1 and 2. The cost will be $164,700.

The ordinary general meeting of shareholders of La Indemnizadora Insurance Company was held yesterday to receive the report and balance sheet, which were approved, and elect directors, syndic, etc. Messrs. J. B. Belgrano and T. Nocetti were named directors, Messrs. D. Saavedra and P. Ham substitutes, and Mr. J. Templeton syndic. As we have already advised, although the profits amounted to 14½ o/o the board thought it advisable to declare a dividend of 10 o/o, carrying 4½ o/o to the reserve, which was done.

Salted hides	13,462
Salted horse-hides	8,068
Dry hides	22,090
Dry horse hides	1,106
Bales of wool	23,173
Bales sheepskins	1,774

Bags flour	3,200
Bags of flax	2,388
Pipes tallow	798
Bales jerked beef	4,839
Frozen sheep	12,210
Horns	136,700

Various—18 cows, 800 live sheep, 550 cases preserves, 22 bales nutria skins, 2 do skins, 204 live sheep, 257 bags minerals, 200 and 198 live sheep, 459 bales hay, 20 horses, 616 barrels minerals, 20 do jerked beef, 54 halves and 1007 quarters of frozen sheep, 500 live do, 800 do do, 100 pieces of timber, etc. etc. These returns shew a sensible decrease on the previous fortnight.

Messrs. P. Luro and Sons have sold from their saladeros in Tuyu 3000 qq. of jerked beef, "habanera" class, to be delivered up to 20th March, at 34½ rls. gold per quintal.

The Montevideo Times says : "Our note respecting the embargo on the tram lines of the National Company was not entirely correct. The National Bank has assumed control of the lines in virtue of an embargo issued at the instance of S. B. Hale and Co., of Buenos Aires. Don Ricardo Tajes has been appointed inspector."

Messrs. G. Kelsey and Co. sold to-day in the Constitution Market 10,000 kilos of Entre-Rios wool at 11.15 and 9.75 m|n per 10 kilos.

"Although, speaking in a general sense, the stock markets have been in an almost stagnant condition, there have been several features of interest both political and financial. Money, as we elsewhere describe, is in superabundant supply, and discount rates have receded to as low as one-half the reduced level of the Bank rate, which on Thursday was lowered from 4 to 3½ o/o. Some doubt was felt whether the bank directors would take action on Thursday, as at the beginning of the week there was a recrudescence of rumours about the position of firms having South American business. Colour was lent to the assertion of there being trouble by the sharp drop in price of Consols on Monday, from which, however, there was a quick recovery. In the best informed quarters the rumours which tended to depress the stock markets are represented to have no foundation, so far as the names of big firms, who were so freely talked about before the Baring incident.

"There was also an uncomfortable sensation on Monday, caused by a heavy decline in Brazilian bonds, which the previous week had given way in price, and which fell some 6 points in a day, recovering about half the fall. At the beginning of the year the quotation was very close to 80, and the lowest at which business was recorded on Monday was 70. We elsewhere explain the reason for the perturbation."

The following operations were effected in the Montevidean "Centro Comercial" on Tuesday :—

The Argentine Consul in Canada gives the following interesting figures with regard to the export of lumber from that country for this market :—

From the ports on the St. Lawrence during five months June to November : Spruce pine, 1,783,000 ft. ; white pine, 4,503,000 ft. ; other kinds, 40,000 ft. ; making a total of 6,335,000 ft. worth 159,829 dols. From Nova Scotia and New Brunswick ports during six months May to December ; Spruce pine 3,783,000 ft. worth 53,032 dols. The total export of lumber to the Plate therefore has been 10,123,000 ft., worth 212,861 dols.

London exchanges to hand of 24th ult. report Argentine securities in general firmer, and the Buenos Ayres loans advancing in price. Cedulas were a trifle weaker.

Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machine Company, limited.

Cabaña del Rincon,

Propiedad del Señor Don Tomas Bell,

Estacion Pereira, 18th Sept. 1890.

Messrs. Agar Cross & Co.

Dear Sirs,

I have great pleasure in reporting favorably of your "Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machine." Up to date we have shorn upwards of 300 Lincoln Rams and Borregas, and find it quite up to our expectations. It is simple and easily handled, and in no way complicated or difficult to understand or work, and so far it has never been out of order. It shears the sheep beautifully it does them quicker and considerably better than it is possible to get them done by hand, and saves the poor animal a great amount of abuse.

I have timed our Amateur Shearer here, and find he can shear upwards of eight in the hour. Consequently, I consider the Wolseley Machine one of the best patents I have yet seen, in proof of which I intend having some more put up at an early date.

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM RIDDICK.

Gas de Buenos Aires.

Rebaja de Precios,

En virtud de las reformas realizadas en la fabrica de esta compañia, que le permiten elaborar una cantidad mucho mayor de gas de la que antes producia, el directorio ha resuelto hasta nuevo aviso fijar el precio del gas del modo siguiente que regira desde el 1° de Febrero proximo.

Por metro cubico $0-226.

No duda el directorio que dada la calidad del gas que fabrica esta compañia, cuya intensidad de luz es siempre superior al tipo oficial de 20 velas, el publico se penetrara de la gran ventaja que tiene en usarlo.

Si hasta ahora hemos cobrado el precio de 25 centavos por metro cubico, es porque nuestros elementos de produccion no nos permitian dar abasto a todos los pedidos; hoy, a pesar de las malas circunstancias por el alto precio del oro, lo expenderemos a 23 centavos incluso en este precio el impuesto municipal, contando con que el aumento de consumo nos compensara la rebaja que hacemos en favor de nuestros numerosos clientes

Buenos Aires, Enero 26 de 1891.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE!

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.
From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To J. T. Davenprt, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London. Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medecine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. we could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne.s Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Sapasms, Crampas, Neuralgia, the Vomitng of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists
Caution,—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defedant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See The Times," July 13, 1864.
Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1/2d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.
